

Career Kick Start reviews the tools and abilities necessary to navigate a successful career search in today's ever changing market. Understanding a company's culture is a crucial part of not only starting, but also advancing your career for the future.

The facilitator, Jamie Fisher, is a Business Development Representative with Arapahoe/ Douglas Works! where she partners with local businesses to provide tools to help them reach their recruitment goals. Jamie is experienced in listening to employer' needs and providing solutions to save organizations time, money and valuable resources.

Jamie is a graduate from the University of Denver and is a member of the National Association of Workforce Development Professionals and the Colorado Business Services Leadership Team.